

Career Sharing by Senior Professionals from the Environmental & Acoustics Related Industries

Organized by:
The Hong Kong Polytechnic University Student Branch of
Hong Kong Institute of Acoustics

Objectives

The university term is close to the end with all examinations almost completed. While some of the students will continue their school lives in the university, many of them are considering finding good positions in the environmental & acoustics related industries and start developing their career. This event aims at providing an excellent opportunity and platform for senior professionals from environmental & acoustics related industries to share their experiences, career prospects in different fields, expectations on relevant skills/interview skills, etc, with PolyU student branch members, and hence help students to equip themselves with the right mindset and get prepared the challenge ahead.

Details

The career sharing session will be conducted in an informal atmosphere in which students could communicate directly with the invited speakers, and are free to ask questions. MC(s) would be provided to lead the event, and snacks and drinks will be provided. Students would be able to learn more from the senior professionals about the industries, and what sort of skills that they are looking for.

Date & Time: 19 July 2013 (Friday), 6:45 PM – 8:15 PM
